From the beginning of the first chapter: THE problem which vexed the mind of Faust, pondering the philosophy formulated at the outset of The Gospel according to St. John, is solved so far as the genesis of The Bohemians is concerned by an acceptance of all the theories which Goethe's philosopher propounded. In the Beginning was Rafael Joseffy. - Thus we write. He was at once Word, Thought, Power and Deed. It was Joseffy who conceived the Club, Joseffy who suggested it to his friends, Joseffy who had the puissant force to mould them into agents of his will and thus called The Bohemians into being-called the Club into being and at once planted it in fruitful ground. It was the adoption of his spirit of good-fellowship, helpfulness, unselfish aims, mutual respect among artists, hatred of petty jealousy and devotion to manly social and artistic ideals which gave the Club its firm foundation. It has been by keeping the salient and admirable traits of his character in mind as a guide that the Club has achieved a growth,...
